Daytona the Garden Spot.

W. C. and Ira D. Smith, winter visitors of Seabreeze, returned Sunday from an extended tour of the East coast, Cuba and the West coast. The brothers left here three weeks ago and stopped at various places en route from one to three days, looking for a paying investment, speaking of the tour yesterday. W. C. Smith said:

"This is our first visit to Florida. We came down looking for a paying investment for a little surplus cash. We visited several places on the East coast and travelled the inside route to Key West. From there we went to Cuba, visiting Havana, Matanzas and Batabanua. That is a fine country and promises, when developed, to become an excellent field for the capitalist.

We came back by way of Tampa and visited various places on the West coast and in the interior of the state. We saw many pretty places, but none which can be compared to Daytona and its vicinity. It is more than likely that we will locate and invest here. The town has an excellent future. All you need is capital, push and energy, the local conditions are favorable. The place has not been advertised, except the kind you got from the auto races. You need something more than that. Advertise your inducements and let the people know what kind of streets and houses you have. Every stranger who comes here expresses surprise at the model dwellings, etc., showing that they were not properly informed."

Fishing Party at Ponce Park.

Messrs. J. H. Clark, Smith, Hunt, Robert Clark and Jerry Hunt, of Cleveland, and Benford Deason, of this place, went down the river yesterday on a fishing trip in Elmer Marsh's launch Gleam. The party took dinner at the Ponce Park Hotel and returned with 32 fine sheephead as a result of their day's outing.

Strawberries are getting quite plentiful and also cheap enough so that all can enjoy them.

With these new engines this road will be better equipped than ever. From time to time the company has increased its rolling stock until it has fifty locomotives and several hundreds of both passenger and freight cars.

HALIFAX RIFLES INSPECTED

Monday Night by Adjutant-General Foster and Colonel Norvell. A Fine Showing Made.

The inspection of the Halifax Rifles, Company K, Second Regiment, took place Monday evening and the Company feels satisfied that it will obtain a favorable report.

The inspection was conducted by the Adjutant-General of Florida, J. Clifford R. Foster, who was accompanied by Col. S. T. Norvell, United States Army, retired, who is assigned to duty with the Florida troops. Lieut. Col. C. M. Bingham, Adjutant Charles L. Smith, Quartermaster T. Edward Fitzgerald and Sergeant-Major A. H. Schmidt were also present. Major John B. Parkinson was absent on account of sickness. Thirty-seven enlisted men, about 55 per cent of the command, responded to roll call. The company was commanded by First Lieutenant Fred Caldwell.

An inspection of the arms and accoutrements showed that the men were neat and that the guns were in excellent condition. In the manual of arms the men did very well when it is taken into consideration that at this the busiest season of the year here, it is impossible to have regular drills. A few of the men were rather tardy or awkward, but on the whole the work was creditable.

In the evolutions of the company, especially when moving in company front or breaking into fours, the movements were generally executed with a fair amount of precision and unison.

Col. Norvell was asked after the inspection was over what the nature of his report would be. The Colonel smiled and said:

"My reports are made direct to the War Department, and, if made public, will be given out from Washington. I cannot, nor do I ever, make public the nature of my report. So far Key West has had the largest company inspected."

Heston's orchestra furnished music, and those who cared to indulged in dancing until about 11 o'clock.

The company will meet next Tuesday night for the purpose of electing a commanding officer. Adjutant Chas. L. Smith, who has a long and meritorious record with the Rifles, will in all probability be elected to hold this important office. If elected the company will undoubtedly be improved and brought to a higher standard.

CHRISTIE MAKING GOOD TIME

Daily on the Beach. Remarkably Regular Speeds Were Made Yesterday and Sunday.

Ford has not yet arrived, nor can it be learned positively whether or not he will come at all before next January. It was thought and hoped that he would be here while Mr. Christie was racing, in which case several imprudent races would have been witnessed.

In the runs made Sunday by Mr. Christie the times were taken by the McMurtry electric timer, the same instrument which was used during the races here in January. Twelve runs of one mile each were speeded, the slowest time being 11 seconds and the fastest 38.45 seconds, a remarkable regularity of speed.

As stated in a previous issue, the remodeled racer differs only in an increased horsepower, the piston stroke has been increased one-half inch and a high tension magneto is used instead of the jump spark. The small front wheels are used, thirty inches in diameter.

Mr. Christie has with him discs for the wheels and a sharp ply for the front of the racer, but has not yet used them. They may be tried later to see if an increase in speed can be attained.

When asked if it was his intention to erect a factory for the manufacturing of touring cars patterned after his racer, Mr. Christie replied:

"No; why it would take a million of dollars to start in that business. I have my own machine shop, a well equipped one too, and there I propose to build racers. Next year I will be here with two machines. One will be a front drive, just like the one you see here, but of higher horse power, nearly double, in fact. The other will be a front and rear drive, sharp at both ends, and will come within the prescribed weight. With the latter I expect to lower the record to 30 seconds."

Walter's Prayer.

Walter and Willie were playmates. The death one day of Willie's grandmother made a deep impression upon Walter. He, too, had a grandmother, whom he dearly loved. At bedtime that night Walter's papa was not a little startled to hear his little boy supplement his evening petition with: "I thank you, God, that you took Willie's grandmother instead of mine."—Lippincott's Magazine.

A Foreboding.

"Have you ever done anything that will make future generations proud of you?"

"I don't know," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "I suppose my grandchildren will wish they could enjoy my wealth without being reminded of how I made it."—Washington Star.

That Would Help.

The infant began crying as soon as the visitor arrived and continued to wail for some time. At last its mamma said:

"Please don't mind the baby." "If you would mind it," suggested the guest, "maybe I wouldn't mind it."—Judge.

One Man's Theory.

Wife—I don't know what makes Miss Crankleigh so positive about everything. Husband—Probably her sex, my dear. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Women are said to make excellent postmasters. Kind of know how to look after the males, as it were.—New York Mail.

A Transformation.

An American man-of-war's man, ashore at Gravesend, near London, awoke the other morning to find himself attired in the uniform of a British soldier. No sooner had he wandered out into the street than a picket stopped him and told him to button up his tunic or he would be taken to barracks. He sought refuge in a police station, where it was discovered that a deserter had changed clothes with him while he slept.

His Own Voice at His Burial.

Herr Paul Turon of Teschen, in Austrian Silesia, sang a hymn at his own burial the other day. He had intoned the hymn into a phonograph shortly before his death and directed that it should be reproduced at his funeral service. This was carried out by his heirs, who under the terms of Herr Turon's will had to sacrifice $500 of his estate to a charity if they failed to comply with his wish.

Fifteen Million Candlepower.

St. Catherine's lighthouse, Isle of Wight, has just been fitted with a flashlight which is estimated to be equal to 15,000,000 candlepower, and on nights when the atmosphere is favorable its beam probably is visible from the French coast. The new light is immensely more powerful than the old one, which was of about 3,000,000 candlepower. —London Globe.

A Narcotic.

Teacher—Give me a familiar instance of a narcotic. (Pupil hesitates.) Teacher—What does your father smoke in his pipe? Pupil—Mother says it smells like hayseed, but I guess it's leather.

Mrs. A. W. Sprague is very ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. D. Langworthy, in Seabreeze. Mrs. Robt. W. Taylor, of Cleveland, arrived yesterday to attend her mother, Mrs. Sprague.
